Korle Bu hands over project site to Belstar Dev't Lib

The government's $100million equipment replacement project for the Korle Bu Teaching has begun.

The project involves the re-equipping of 13 of the 24 theatres in the hospital as well as the rehabilitation of the Laundry and Catering Departments of the hospital.

A New MRI and CT Scan machines will also be installed in Korle Bu as part of the project.

Handing over the Paediatric Surgery Unit theatre to Belstar Dev't Lib to mark the beginning of the project in Accra on Monday, the Chief Executive urged the contractor to speed up the project but should not compromise on the quality of the work.

He urged them to execute the project in such a way that routine work will not be disrupted.

The Project Manager of Belstar, Mr Joaquin Roura, gave an assurance that the project will be executed on schedule.

The work, which is expected to commence on 27th February, 2012 is an agreed policy between the Ministry of Health and Management of the Hospital to refurbish the above-listed units to improve quality health care delivery.
